

LINKING YOUR WORLD

As the trend of globalization continues and many companies have overseas subsidiaries or a network of regional offices spread across the world, many will face increased global exposures. Multinational companies purchase insurance to ensure they are protected from ever-growing liabilities and many work with multiple insurance carriers, in multiple jurisdictions, utilizing several brokers to ensure they are protected. This can be complex, time consuming and expensive. Working with one insurance carrier in a multinational program helps to reduce potential gaps in coverage.
